Bryan Isley Appointed President and CEO of SpeedyDry Inc.

Charlotte, North Carolina – Bryan Isley is appointed President and CEO of SpeedyDry Inc.

As former Vice President Investment Banking at Marion Bass Company, and Independent Trader at Refco Securities, he identified superior investment opportunities and formulated strategies to capitalize on them, thus bringing to SpeedyDry extensive management and financial experience. He holds a B.A. Degree in Psychology and Economics, and is a Level Two Candidate Chartered Financial Analyst. Nor is printing new to Isley whose brother is owner and manager of a print company.

Since assuming this leadership role, he has added a four person sales team on the eastern seaboard/coast and rapidly increased the customer base. “Our goal is to maximize efficiencies and minimize overall production costs in the printing industry. We want to make sure that our customers can compete on a global basis, and keep jobs in this industry in North America.”

About SpeedyDry Inc. SpeedyDry Inc. was founded in early 2000 by Shane Landis and Greg Wells, both with over twenty-five years experience as press operators. Working with Chris Wikloff who holds a degree in Chemical Engineering and who produces and protects patents, the ink dryer additive SpeedyDry was developed. Used in the sheetfed offset printing process and with any substrate, it drastically reduces ink drying time, as well as increasing ink adhesion and rub resistance. This results in a major reduction in turnaround time and enables printers to better meet customer demands. It also eliminates the need for most specialty inks (i.e.- for printing on plastics), and for the slip sheeting and aqueous coating currently done in many printing companies in order to move the job more quickly into binding and finishing. All this lowers production costs.
