

MISSION:

SpeedyDry seeks to simplify the often complicated world of commercial offset printing. Our goal is to maximize efficiencies and minimize overall production costs in the printing industry. For years printers have turned away the tough jobs. The work was not worth the trouble, or the printing requirements were simply beyond the capabilities of the press and printer. This has never been more true with the advent of synthetic papers and the inks required to print on them. Press, paper, ink, or environment can acutely alter the properties of any given print job. In today's world of immediate satisfaction and instant gratification, customers are either not aware of or not concerned with the difficulties found in the press room. SpeedyDry aims to remove those difficulties. Printers can have consistent results on runs previously considered impossible.
